

Case Study: MPA Architects
www.MPAarchitects.com

MPA Architects decide to stick with what they do best.

Like savvy business people everywhere, the personnel at MPA Architects know their business inside and out. And they should. They have a long, successful history in the South Bend area.

Begun in 1956 by Joseph Mathews, the firm may have undergone name changes in its 50-year history, but its reputation for outstanding work has never wavered. Involved in all aspects of architecture, planning and interior design, the firm's widely diverse projects include commercial, industrial, educational, public transportation, religion, health care, law enforcement, recreational, single and multifamily, and retirement housing.

With tasks like those in front of them everyday, it's no wonder that they decided to look for expertise outside of their firm to develop a professional Website that was a true reflection of who they are and what they do.

“We interviewed several Web design firms and freelancers. Brian at BKR Studio came in, gave a presentation and answered all of our questions. We asked him for a timeline and a quote, and he provided them quickly. His price was very competitive and we were impressed with other work he had done,” said Weiss.

“It didn't take long for us to confirm that we got exactly what we wanted. Everyone here is extremely happy with the work of the BKR team. They worked with us on implementing the design that we already had in mind and made it work on our site.”

She is especially pleased with how easy it is for them to make changes to the site in-house. Also, the principals like the fact that clients and prospective clients can send e-mail directly to them through the site. “And when we switched e-mail accounts, Brian came in for a couple of hours, explained everything to us and got it up and running. It was a joy working with someone who cared that much about us,” said Weiss.

So here's the moral of the story: If you're looking for an outstanding architectural firm, visit www.mpaarchitects.com. But if you're looking for an outstanding Web design firm, contact BKR Studio.

